MARIA ALVAREZ

Maria Alvarez is our exchange student this year. She is a sophomore from LaPaz, Bolivia. She was born on March 12, 1955.

Her father has an office job in connection with mineral works in America. Her mother is a housewife, as most Bolivian women are.

Maria was chosen by a Rotary Exchange Committee. Their decision was based on the knowledge of America, the use of the English language, and the grades the student had earned.

Maria is enjoying her trip very much. She wishes to come back to America someday. She contrasted and compared her high school, named American Institute, with our JHS. In her home country, high school students must have 17 credits to graduate. They do not choose their own courses. English is a requirement for all students. She says there is no dress code. The school day runs from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. with 15 minutes for lunch.

Maria's future plans include returning to America for college since there is only one college in Bolivia. She plans to enter the teaching field, but she is uncertain of her major.

Steve
 Well, mighty
 senior - this is our last and final year together. I hope this will really be the best ever. I don't forget all the dumb
 times in English and Mr. H's lecture on the war. Think you could ever make it? Well, I know
 if you keep smiling
 life will be a
